COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS
Fifty-first session
Item 22 of the provisional agenda

IMPLEMENTATION OF THE DECLARATION ON THE ELIMINATION OF ALL FORMS OF INTOLERANCE AND OF DISCRIMINATION BASED ON RELIGION OR BELIEF

Note verbale dated 4 January 1995 from the Permanent Mission of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia to the United Nations Office at Geneva addressed to the Chairman of the Commission on Human Rights

The Permanent Mission of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia to the United Nations Office and other international organizations at Geneva presents its compliments to the Chairman of the fifty-first session of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights and has the honour to transmit herewith a letter by H.E. Mr. Vladislav Jovanović, Minister for Foreign Affairs of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, with enclosures referring to the violation of religious rights of the Serbs in Croatia, to the conversion of children into the Catholic religion and to deliberate pulling down of religious and sacral facilities, with a request to have it circulated as an official document of the fifty-first session of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, under agenda item 22, entitled "Implementation of the Declaration on the Elimination of All Forms of Intolerance and of Discrimination Based on Religion or Belief".

FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF YUGOSLAVIA
Federal Minister of Foreign Affairs

Belgrade, December 1994

Excellency,

The International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, article 2, provides for the following: "Each State party to the present Covenant undertakes to respect and to ensure to all individuals within its territory and subject to its jurisdiction the rights recognized in the present Covenant, without distinction of any kind, such as race, colour, sex, language, religion, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status". The Republic of Croatia is one of the rare European countries which does not abide by the commitments it has taken under the Covenant vis-à-vis its citizens of Serb nationality and Orthodox religion. By these acts the Republic of Croatia violates also articles 1, 2 and 4 of the Declaration on the Elimination of All Forms of Intolerance and Discrimination Based on Religion or Belief.

Proceeding from the fact that belonging to the Orthodox Church has been the principal reason for the failure to assimilate Serbs in this region throughout centuries, the present authorities in Croatia, emulating as a role model the nazi regime of Ante Pavelić, a war criminal and collaborator of Hitler from 1941 to 1945 (whose pictures hang on the walls of Croatian Army barracks today) carry out the policy of conversion of Serbs into Catholicism or of the expulsion of Serbs from Croatia. Children in pre-school and school institutions, as well as priests of the Serbian Orthodox Church, are the special target of the onslaught.

It is certainly the right of Croatia to introduce religious instruction in school curricula as an optional subject, scheduled for second or third period rather than for the beginning or the end of the school day. Religious instruction is taught by Catholic priests and ever since its beginning, children of Serb nationality and Orthodox religion have not attended these classes. But, because of their inattendance, these children have been branded as non-Christians and subjected to harassment and disparagement. In order to spare their children the harassment and to ensure them a normal education, their parents requested the Serb Orthodox Church communities to issue them certificates that their children had been baptized in the Orthodox Church and presented these certificates to Catholic priests who took the children to the first communion to Catholic churches and then sent them to Catholic religion instruction classes. According to the data presented in the Sabor of the

His Excellency
Mr. Boutros Boutros-Ghali
Secretary-General
United Nations
New York, New York 10017

Republic of Croatia, about 10,000 Orthodox children have been converted in this way into Catholicism (the Sabor deputy who revealed this information in public was physically attacked in the Sabor by Sabor deputies of the ruling Croatian Democratic Community). The requests of parents for the issuance of baptism certificates and the requests of Catholic churches to that effect are incontestable proof of the existence in Croatia of the practice of religious conversion under social and mental pressure.

The Croatian authorities claim that the phenomenon of religious conversion is the consequence of the fact that the Serbian Orthodox Church has not organized religious education for Orthodox children in Croatian schools, though it is allowed to do so under the law. Unfortunately, the Croatian authorities have failed to state publicly that Serb churches in Croatia are being pulled down and that Orthodox priests are being arrested and tortured in prisons. Most of the clergy of the Serbian Orthodox Church have therefore been expelled from Croatia, including five of its bishops. They are not allowed by the Croatian authorities to return to Croatia, but even if they were, neither the bishops nor the priests would have a place to return to as many Orthodox churches and parish residences have been destroyed. (In the five eparchies of the Serbian Orthodox Church in the territory of the AVNOJ Croatia 279 religious establishments have been destroyed or damaged: 70 churches have been destroyed, 101 severely damaged, 56 church residences have been destroyed, 24 severely damaged, 10 chapels have been destroyed, 4 severely damaged; 4 church cemeteries have been destroyed and 2 monasteries severely damaged.

The Orthodox Church Library in Pakrac established in 1690 was destroyed, the Serbian Orthodox Church Museum in Zagreb, with exhibits from the thirteenth to the sixteenth century, was blown up.

Even if the exceptionally small number of remaining Orthodox priests in the Republic of Croatia were provided normal working conditions (which they are not), they would not be able to teach religion to all remaining children in the Republic of Croatia.

The amount of disrespect that the Croatian authorities show for the Serbian Orthodox Church and the Serb people is evinced also by the Decision of 4 October 1994 of the Construction Inspection of the Daruvar Office of the Bjelovar/Bilogorje Zupanija. By this decision, the inspector ordered the "Greek Eastern Church of Our Lady" (Croatian authorities avoid to use the appropriate term "Serbian Orthodox Church" and use "Greek Eastern Church" instead) to remove the building of the Orthodox Church at Sirač, which had been dynamited, because it constitutes a direct threat to adjacent buildings, the life of people and the safety of traffic. At the same time, this Croatian State organ warned the Serbian Orthodox Church that, prior to the removal of the church at Sirač, it had to obtain the approval of the Regional Institute for the Protection of Cultural Monuments in Osijek, as the building was protected as a cultural monument. However, in the explanation of the Decision, construction inspector Mirjana Horvat admitted that the Serb church had been completely destroyed and that the usable material had been taken away. Of course, this is not the only Orthodox church destroyed outside combat areas with the knowledge of the Croatian authorities (episcopal residences in Zagreb, Karlovac and Pakrac were also dynamited). The purpose of the destruction of the Serb churches by dynamiting them is obvious: to destroy and erase the traces of the Serbian Orthodox Church and its believers living in some parts of the former AVNOJ Croatia.

Excellency, by informing you of this tragic discrimination of the Serb people in the Republic of Croatia on the basis of religion, I plead with you to take measures, within the framework of your authority, to compel the Government of the Republic of Croatia to fulfil its international commitments under the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and other international instruments.

Accept, Excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration.

Explanation

At the on-site examination effected by an inspection commission on 7 July 1994, the construction inspector of the Zupanija Bureau for Landscaping, Housing and Communal Affairs, Construction and Environmental Protection, Daruvar Office, established in the matter of inspection of the condition of the Orthodox Church building at Sirač, Stjepana Radića Street, built on site No. 1, Sirač, owned by the Greek Eastern Church of Our Lady, that due to war devastations in 1991-1992, the said building was substantially damaged and its stability affected, so that it poses a permanent danger because of the possibility of further uncontrolled dilapidation.

Description of the building and damages: The Orthodox Church, Greek Eastern Church of Our Lady at Sirač was approximately 7 metres wide by 15 metres long; it consisted of belfry, nave, saddle roof; was built of full NF bricks, ceiling, wooden roof covered with tile; damage: the church has been completely destroyed and no usable building material remains (driven away).

Because of the damage described, the building poses a threat to adjacent buildings, human lives and traffic safety so that it is necessary to remove the building in its entirety since the threat cannot be eliminated in another way (reparation is not possible).

The remaining building material will be used by the owner, to the extent possible, while a scrap-yard is ensured for the unusable part provided for such purposes at Gornji Daruvar.

In pursuance of the presented, the above Decision has been adopted on the basis of the Law on Construction.

LEGAL REMEDY:

The wronged party may appeal this Decision within 15 days from its receipt with the Ministry of Construction and Environmental Protection of the Republic of Croatia in Zagreb, Vukovarska Avenija 78.

An appeal against the minutes may be lodged, in writing or orally, through this Bureau or directly to a body of second instance, which is subject to the administrative fee of 4.00 K under Tar. No. 3 of the Law on Administrative Fees (People's Gazette of the Republic of Croatia No. 97/93).

Parish Church at Velika Mučna,
Municipality of Koprivnica

Report

According to the information of the Police Station at Koprivnica of 12 January 1993 on the explosion in the St. Apostles Michael and Gabriel Parish Church at Velika Mučna, the conservators of this Institute went to the site on 26 January 1993 to establish and document the damage done.

Upon the examination of the church, the following damage has been ascertained:

1. Two floorboards at the elevated part directly in front of the iconostasis (in front of the middle gate), made of painted cement, dimensions: 30 cm x 30 cm, directly damaged in the radius of 15 cm where the bomb (explosive) was planted.

2. Iconostasis made of wood and painted (1904) - damaged in the lower zone between the left and right gate. The damage was caused indirectly by the shrapnel of the bomb which made deep cuts, destroying the painted surface, as well as the basic foundation (wood). Besides the decorative parts of the middle gate (affected by worms) also fell off due to the explosion effect. Upon the examination of the iconostasis it was established that the architecture itself was still in good condition (sound and solid wood), while the icons, probably painted on a wooden foundation were of inferior quality, were affected by worms so that they peeled.

3. Two light bodies in front of the iconostasis made of cast iron with glass decorations - sustained minor damage (broken prong and decorations).

4. The window-pane glass was cracked.

On the basis of the examination, we have ascertained that the damage done will not affect the further dilapidation of the building and its inventory, so that, urgent protection measures are not necessary.

The restoration of the church and its inventory, related to the regular maintenance and replacement of the damaged parts, should be planned in cooperation with competent institutions, while the Institute will, within the bounds of its capacities and competence, involve in all restoration activities.
